BRINGING YOU WORDS, ONE LETTER AT A TIME

CONGRATS ON ALL MY SUCCESS: A SPECIAL ISSUE OF PERIODICAL

Hello. This is Eytan writing. Hello, and good evening. Although I guess I don't know what time of day it is when you're reading this. And actually I'm writing this in the afternoon, so I don't know why I said good evening. I guess I'm one of those guys who pines for the evening! Anyway, I would like to apologize for the delay between issues. Let's just say... a lot has been happening. I've been saying "Well, that just happened" basically non-stop, what with all the things that have been happening. Chief among them: Periodical's commercial expansion.

Chuffed by the money-making potential of my free piece of paper with bullshit written on it, a consortium led by "movie" director Damien Chazelle has bought Periodical and turned it into a new conglomerate called Periodical Inc, Incorporated. We've gotten money from investment banks, divestment

PERIODICAL INC, INCORPORATED'S NEW BOARD!

Damien Chazelle -- CEO

See Effo -- CFO

James Murdoch -- COO

Joel Glazer -- Director of Slay Mama

Eytan Boclin -- Non-managing Director

Everyone on the Amazon board -- Board Members

A non-monogamous Jewish fabric dealer named

Poly Esther -- Executive in Charge Of Sales

PERIODICAL JOB POSTING

Job Application Reader

Filling this job has proved difficult as we've had no one to read the applications, also our office was under siege due to a 2-week-long bee attack! So we're just getting up to speed.

that's awesome*

PERSONAL AD

Offering free make-up design IF you come to my garage. No talking. And actually, not free. Expensive.

banks, and even regular old Joe's like you from all across our great nation. Plus Guam!

Periodical Inc, Incorporated is a global powerhouse, with partnerships across all industries except pottery and porn. We've hired employees, fired employees, realized those firings were by mistake, returned with our tail between our legs to try to re-hire those people, gotten rejected, licked our wounds, hired the next person on the list, and almost hit pedestrians with our car. Throughout this issue we'll be letting you know about some of our new endeavors.

After long talks/threats, I decided to put an end to the board's negotiating tactic of "waterboarding but for ballsacks" and sign control over to Mr. Chazelle. Exciting times await, and I'm blessed to share them with you all.

EXCLUSIVE EXCERPT FROM THE BUZZY NEW STAGE PLAY...

"CHE GUEVARA NEEDS A BATH"

Lights up on Che, digging a hole while his friends watch. It sounds weird, but they had to do stuff like that to satiate his ego. It was a toxic dynamic, but also, aren't all dynamics toxic in some way? Who are we to judge?

CHE: The imperialist hogs heat their water off the backs of our labor!

CHE'S FRIEND: Come on man, you stink.

Brand Partner Spotlight

It brings us great joy to announce our partnership with Beyond Meat. We'll be making either a zine-based sausage or a plant-based Periodical, whichever is possible first! (Currently, Periodicals are made of 80% pork and 20% dove)

"On Notice"

In this section, we give one of the brilliant members of the Periodical family space to put something "On Notice" - to let loose and just gripe, because even though life is mostly perfect, every now and then a pesky bee gets caught in our proverbial bonnet. So with that, we proudly bring you "On Notice" from Ernie Glibman in our Los Angeles office. Take it away, Ernie!

On Notice this week: Stuff I hate. Bro, I hate this stuff. Whenever I interact with stuff I hate I'm like, this stuff would be better if I liked it. That's the heart of it for me, to be honest. I don't like stuff I hate, but conversely (as in "like Converse"), I like stuff I like. Stuff I hate: you gotta go!

Great job, Ernie! You go, guy!

Periodical Holdings Limited is a fund that will reinvest the capital that our free piece of paper with bullshit on it generates back into the market. Our first investment:

An app that tells you to shut the fuck up

A NOTE ABOUT DAMIEN CHAZELLE, OUR NEW CEO

Eytan again. Now, I can't say it wasn't difficult to relinquish control of Periodical, mainly because I have a mouth disease that makes pronouncing those words impossible. But I'm ready to be a team player. Some examples of how Damien is making Periodical Inc, Incorporated the greatest enterprise on Earth:

- We all love CBD, right? Well Damien has us working on a smokeable leaf that contains both CBD and THC! We hope to have a prototype by early 2025.
- He has created a consulting firm, Periodical Consulting Group On Fleek. We're working with a political lobby to push Kevorkian-style legislation that will legalize assisted homicide.
- Damien is pro-union, with the "pro" standing for "probably against". He sees things that others don't, and smells things that don't exist. It's a weird, strange affliction that has grown my capacity for empathy.

DINNER PARTY

If I could have a dinner party with anybody living or dead, I would choose somebody living. Are you out of your fucking mind

SPORTS NEWS

There was a riot halfway through a match between the Crazy Rich Asians and the Even Richer Biracials after the two teams realized they were playing squash when they meant to be playing polo. There were no injuries, unless you count a broken heart </3

Most of Nebraska is furious with Jason Derulo after he fell asleep while singing the national anthem at a sporting event of some kind.

Beach volleyball has scrapped attempts to figure out a way to play the game underwater. The team of 600 men who proposed the idea has been executed.
